

Dr. Marshall Goldsmith Named Winner of the Thinkers50 Leadership Award
(sponsored by Harvard Business Review)
as the World's Most-Influential Leadership Thinker

Over the past decade, the prestigious Thinkers50 bi-annual global ranking of business thinkers (Harvard Business Review is the media sponsor) created by Des Dearlove and Stuart Crainer has served the business community by showcasing the top thinkers on the planet.

In London, internationally acclaimed executive educator, coach and author, Dr. Marshall Goldsmith, was named winner of the Thinkers50 Leadership Award – as the World's Most Influential Leadership Thinker. Along with being recognized as the #1 leadership thinker, Dr. Goldsmith was listed as the #7 greatest business thinker in the world.

"Marshall Goldsmith is singularly persuasive, networked, and energetic. In the crowded leadership sphere, he stands out as someone who is fixed on changing the practice of leaders for the better rather than the neatness of his theories," says Thinkers50 co-founder Stuart Crainer.

Goldsmith, a world authority on helping successful leaders get even better, is the author of the New York Times and Wall Street Journal bestselling books MOJO and What Got You Here Won't Get You There – winner of the Harold Longman Award for Business Book of the Year. He received his Ph.D. from UCLA's Anderson School of Management where he was recognized as one of the 100 distinguished graduates in the history of the school. He is Chairman of the Dartmouth Tuck School of Business CEO Coaching Network.
